

So...
What's Bugging
You?

Rodent Abatement

Using Bait Boxes allows us to control the rodent population for the affected area or areas.

Fire Ants

Like you, we are not big fans of Fire Ants. They can often give you a unpleasant surprise. We use various techniques to treat and prevent Fire Ants.

Subterranean Termites

There is no need to fear Termites. The reality is that they are underneath practically everything. We just do not want them on your home. We have the capability of preventing Termites if your home is applicable. If you already have them that is ok as well. We can come out and inspect your home and give you a bid for what a full termite treatment would cost.

Little Black Ants

These ants are often described as Sugar Ants or Kitchen Ants. They can be plentiful and adventurous. Once we figure out their trail, we can then track them to their source.

Earwigs

Many have seen this fellow in their home at some point. We often find them in bathrooms or kitchens around the plumbing areas.

Paper Wasps

The Paper Wasp will generally leave you alone if you do not disturb their nest. The paper nest can get to a very large size if left untreated.

Wolf Spider

This spider can move rather quickly. They repopulate quickly as well. You may think twice before stepping on this spider due to their nature of carrying the babies on their backs.

Red Wasps

This wasp will also occupy a paper nest. They are often very stealthy and are not shy. Keep your head on a pivot if you see them.

Yellow Jacket Wasps

This wasp is aggressive. Many mistake this for a Paper Wasp. Do your best to stay clear of their area.

North Texas Scorpions

This Scorpion looks different than what you may have seen on the television. They are not all that large and they blend into their surrounding very well.

Cockroaches

This is a helpful tool in identifying what cockroach you may have. The cockroaches that require special treatment are the German and Brown Banded Cockroach.

Brown Recluse

This spider likes dark and cool areas. This spider can be plentiful with its offspring. It is a dangerous spider that can cause harm. Be sure to be careful in dark cool areas.

Black Widow

This spider is very pronounced with its appearance. Stay clear of it if possible. This spider has a unique messy "Halloween decoration" web.
